
Urban Land Institute NY Presents Report At Emerging Trends In Real Estate Event

Jonathan Miller, Investor Marketing Strategist and Partner at Miller Ryan, Phillip Palmer, ULI NY Event Chairman, Howard Weitzman, ULI NY Co-Chair, Christopher Ludeman, President of Brokerage and Capital Markets for the Americas at CBRE, Lenny Beaudoin, Senior Managing Director Practice Leader at CBRE, P. Sheridan Schechner, Managing Director and Head of Americas Real Estate Investment Banking at Barclays Capital, Dean Shapiro, Senior Vice President at Oxford Properties Group, and Michael J. McNamara, Head of U.S. Acquisitions and Dispositions at Brookfield Office Properties.

Urban Land Institute New York presented its annual report, entitled “Emerging Trends in Real Estate® 2013” at the “Emerging Trends in Real Estate” event.

The event began with a presentation of the “Emerging Trends in Real Estate 2013” report, given by Jonathan Miller, Investor Marketing Strategist and Partner at Miller Ryan, LLC. The program continued with a panel that responded to the report and provided expert insight.

The panel was moderated by Christopher Ludeman. Mr. Ludeman was joined by panelists P. Sheridan Schechner, Michael J. McNamara, Dean Shapiro, and Lenny Beaudoin.

Panelists discussed the “Emerging Trends in Real Estate 2013” report, which provides information on real estate markets in North America, identifies industry trends and capital flows and analyzes surveys from real estate executives, investors, developers and market experts around the country.